There were 411 vacancies (234- Unreserved, 97-O.B.C, 53-SC.and 27-S.T.) to be filled in for various service on the basis of the Civil Services Examination, 1999. Against this, the U.P.S.C.recommended 191 -Unreserved candidates, 127 candidates belonging to O.B.C.,63 candidates belonging to S.C. and 30 candidates belonging to S.T.

2. The list of 127 O.B.C.candidates included 30 candidates who were recommended against un-reserved vacancies. Similarly, the list of 63 S.C. candidates included 10 candidates and the list of 30 S.T. candidates included 3 candidates who were recommended against un-reserved vacancies. However, only 6 O.B.C.and 1 S.T. candidates have been allocated against un-reserved vacancies. The remaining candidates who were recommended against un-reserved vacancies have been allocated against reserved vacancies so that they could get the service of their higher preference.

3. In the present system of allocation, the candidates belonging to OBC, SC and ST are being provided the maximum employment for the reason that in most of the cases, all the reserved vacancies are being filled by the recommended candidates.
